NEWPORT NEWS CHIEF RESIGNS HIS POSITION

[Special to The Times-Dispatch. [Special to The Times-Dispatch.]
Newport News, Va., April 13.—Chief of Police John W. Reynolds, who has been a member of the department for nearly twenty years, and chief for the past six years, is currently reported to have tendered his resignation to the Board of Police Commissioners.
Neither the chief nor Chairman Holmes, of the board, will discuss the report, but it seems practically certain that the resignation has been tendered, and will be considered at tain that the resignation has been tendered, and will be considered at the meeting of the commissioners next Thursday night.

Chief Reynolds has been seriously considering severing his connection with the force for several weeks, a combination of circumstances causing bim to be dissatisfied. The effort which is being made in the City Council to reduce the size of the force, to put upon the chief the work now performed by two sergeants, and at the same time make a reduction of $200 in the chief's salary; together with criticisms of his management of the department on the floor of the Council, and street taik about the Sunday observance situation, are responsible for his determination to give up the position.

It is generally believed that the ef-

for his determination to give up the position.

It is generally believed that the efforts to curtail the police appropriation and interfere in the management of the department will be defeated in the Council, and it is more than probable that the commissioners will endeavor to induce Chief Reynolds to withdraw his resignation. The chief probably is the most popular man in the service of the local public. The people have the utmost confidence in his ability and integrity, and the great majority would regard his loss as an almost irreparable one to the police force.
